EnBiorganic Expands Its Innovative Wastewater Treatment Presence In Canada

Con-Tech General Contractors now part of the EnBiorganic Technologies network of licensees to offer cutting edge wastewater treatment technology options

Calgary, AB May 2021– EnBiorganic Technologies, innovator and provider of patented turn-key autonomous systems for the natural, biological treatment of wastewater is pleased to announce the expansion of Con-Tech General Contractors Ltd of Saskatoon, SK Canada in its licensed market of EBS-Di Installers and service providers.

Con-Tech will now be able to implement and deliver EnBiorganic’s (TaaS) Treatment as a Service solution to wastewater utilities and commercial entities throughout Western Canada. Since 1994, the firm has been a leader in design-build, general contracting and construction management for water/wastewater treatment plants, public infrastructure projects and award-winning commercial buildings. “After being part of a highly successful performance trial with EnBiorganic’s EBS-Di unit, we knew we had to represent this technology and bring it to our clients to help solve some of their greatest pain points for managing effective wastewater treatment,” says Larry Plett, President & CEO of Con-Tech General Contractors, Ltd.

“Having first-hand experience of the impactful results our technology delivers makes Larry and his firm a perfect fit for introducing and educating the region’s wastewater utilities about how they can economically solve issues while improving treatment performance,” shares Darrell Liski, CEO of EnBiorganic Technologies. “Working together, we will successfully deliver truly sustainable solutions to Canada thru EBS-Di, it’s Nature’s Remedy | Made Ready.”
